LOS ANGELES, Calif. Aug. 7 .- A -chool of housemaids will be established in Los Angeles, according to plans announced by Mrs. Edwin A. Knapp, formerly a newspaperwoman of Kansas City and more recently director of publicity for the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Enapp believes that through a course of training and the subsequent employment of graduates who know every detail of such services, the work will be raised to the dignity of a skilled trade if not a pro-

Mrs. Knapp said the plan had been tried successfully in Kansas City. where such an institution was conducted by the board of education. The prospective maids are trained for housework just as others are trained for teaching, with higher standards of service and pay and recognition with other skilled workers.
